REDS 1982 Household Economic Data

Data Used

- Raw data file: `redsecon.raw` (public82 folder, Brown). It is fixed-width text with no column names.
- Codebooks used to decode it: `redsecon.pdf` (decks 01–30) and `redsdeadd.pdf` (decks 42–45).
- Questionnaires: `reds82ecoq1`, `reds82ecoq2`, `reds82ecoq3` (only the relevant pages).

What we were looking for

The raw file is fixed-width text, so the codebook is the only way to decode it, and some things are missing in the codebook. Here is a list of everything we were looking to pull from the raw data. "✓" means that we found the data. If the data is found, the "()" we say where it can be found in the codebook and the "→" shows which table the information is in (either Person, Household, Crop, or Durables). ✗ means that the data is missing in the codebook. We do not know why these are missing or where to find them.

Overview of the raw file

`redsecon.raw` has 290,553 lines and covers 4,981 households. Of these, 290,445 lines are usable and 108 were set aside as garbled.

- Every line is 80 characters wide. Characters 1–2 are the study number (09), 3–4 the deck number, 5–8 the household interview number.
- The interview number links a household across decks. It is unique within deck 01.
- Decks are only written when a household has something to report, so a household may be absent from a deck.
- Multi-card decks (07, 08, 09, 10, 18, 20, 21, 26, 27, 28, 29) have several lines per household. Deck 28 has one line per family member (34,172 people).
- 4,979 households appear in deck 01. Households 1786 and 1802 have no deck 01 line, so they have no district, state or household size.

Things to keep in mind

- Blank means nothing reported. It is missing, not zero. This applies to households with no line in a deck (for example 913 with no irrigation line, 965 with no crops).
- Value columns are unreliable. Some rupee fields appear to mix rupees and hundreds of rupees (seen in durables for households 0002, 0007, 0008). Irrigation and land values also look too low. Number-owned columns are more reliable.
- Codebook field order is wrong for decks 26 and 18. The crop code (deck 26) and the item type (deck 18) sit in characters 11–12 and the serial number in 13–14, the reverse of what the codebook says. We checked this against the "All crops" and "All durables" total lines. Deck 08 matches its codebook.
- District and state codes have not been standardized yet. But it should only take a few minutes to do that. Once we have the information extracted for each year, it will be standardized.
- Households cannot be tracked across survey years by interview number. The 1971 interview number in the household table is 0 for over 25% of households and should not be used.
- We did not repair raw data. Odd values (for example age 99, serial numbers above 23 in durables) are left as found.

Table 2: Person table (`redsecon_1982_person_table.csv`)

One row per listed family member (34,172 rows, 10 columns), from deck 28. Link to the household table with the interview number. Names, special training and occupation II are not coded in the raw file.

Column name	Deck	Characters	What it holds	Notes

interview_number_1982	28	5–8	Household interview number	Links to the household table.
hh_comp_household_size_per_deck28	28	9–10	Household size as stated on the member line	Maximum 99; matches the count of listed members 99.5% of the time.
hh_comp_col1_serial_number_of_member	28	11–12	Serial number of the member within the household	Some households have more members than the 10 slots on the questionnaire; the file lists them all.

				and II) are combined in one code.

Table 3: Crop table (`redsecon_1982_crop_table.csv`)

One row per crop line (10,606 rows, 8 columns), from deck 26. The "All crops" total lines are excluded (they are used in the household table instead). A household can have several lines for the same crop code; their areas add up to the total.

Column name	Deck	Characters	What it holds	Notes
interview_number_1982	26	5–8	Household interview number	Links to the household table. 965 households have no crop lines.
cropping_pattern_col1_crop_code	26	11–12	Crop code	The codebook says characters 13–14; the data shows the code in 11–12.
cropping_pattern_col1_crop_name	derived	n/a	Crop name looked up from the code	Added by us from the codebook list. Code 14 is not in the codebook and is labelled "code not in codebook".

cropping_pattern_serial_number_of_crop_line	26	13–14	Serial number of the crop line	The codebook says characters 11–12. Not a reliable key: serials repeat within a household, and some lines are exact duplicates.
cropping_pattern_variety_1_HYV_2_traditional	26	15	Variety	1 HYV, 2 traditional.
cropping_pattern_area_under_crop_hectares	26	16–18	Area under the crop, hectares	One implied decimal place.

Ten households have a duplicated "All crops" line, which we noted but did not repair.

Table 4: Durables table (`redsecon_1982_durables_table.csv`)

One row per durable item line (40,343 rows, 10 columns), from deck 18. The "All durables" total lines are excluded. All value columns are unreliable because some rupee fields mix rupees and hundreds of rupees (seen for households 0002, 0007, 0008).

Column name	Deck	Characters	What it holds	Notes

interview_number_1982	18	5–8	Household interview number	Links to the household table. 8 households have no deck 18 lines.
consumer_durables_q1_col1_item_code	18	11–12	Item type code (11 radio through 74 others)	The codebook says characters 13–14; the data shows the code in 11–12.
consumer_durables_q1_col1_item_name	derived	n/a	Item name looked up from the code	Added by us from the codebook list.
consumer_durables_q1_serial_number_of_line	18	13–14	Serial number of the line	The codebook says characters 11–12. 108 lines have a serial above 23, which is invalid.
consumer_durables_q1_col2_number_owned_start_RP	18	15–16	Number owned at start of reference period	More reliable than the value columns. Some maxima (95, 99) look odd.

consumer_durables_q1_col3_value_owned_start_RP_Rs	18	17–22	Value owned at start, rupees	Unreliable units.
consumer_durables_q1_col4_value_purchased_during_RP_Rs	18	23–27	Value purchased during reference period, rupees	Unreliable units.
consumer_durables_q1_col5_value_sold_during_RP_Rs	18	28–32	Value sold during reference period, rupees	Unreliable units.
